

Biography:

Nina Čolović is a PhD candidate in Linguistics at the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences in Zagreb. Her research concerns the adaption and development of the methodology of critical discourse analysis in the educational context, focusing on the dominant and minority language education. Since 2015 she has been employed in the Serbian National Council in Zagreb as a linguist-researcher, and since 2019 she has also assumed the responsibility of the coordinator of the Programme of Education in the same institution, working extensively with the policy-makers, schools and teachers alike, across different aspects of minority language education.